Dear <patient name>

Re: Important new information about one of your medicines

According to our records you are prescribed the following medicine(s) <NSAID>. This type of medicine is called a non-steroidal anti-inflammatory drug (NSAID) and is commonly used for muscular and joint pain.

Recently, new information about these medicines has been published. Following a discussion between the doctors and nurses in our practice, we have decided to review the way that we prescribe these medicines to ensure that we are following the latest and best evidence available to us.

After a careful review of your notes, I have decided that we should discuss the NSAID that I currently prescribe for you. We can do this at your next routine appointment or alternatively, you can make an appointment for a medication review instead of ordering your repeat medicines next time.

If you have any questions about this change please ask at the practice and also read the leaflet enclosed in this letter.

Yours sincerely

Dr A N Other
