

I have been given information about the Care and Treatment Review register that it has been proposed my relative's details should go on

My relative doesn't have the capacity to consent to their details being put on the Care and Treatment Review register so me and all others involved have been asked to consider if it is in their best interests to go on the register

We believe it in my relative's best interest to go on the register. I also understand their support will be discussed at the Care and Treatment Review meeting so that health and social care can work together to try to help them. I can ask to be informed of the discussions and any outcomes as long as my relative does not object to this.

I understand that if my relative's behaviour escalates and causes a risk to themselves or others they may need to go to hospital to get better. Before this happens their details will be passed to managers who buy support services. They will consider and talk to those involved to try to find other ways of keeping my relative safe whilst I get better at home
