

Equality, Inclusion and Human Rights

Nene
Clinical Commissioning Group

Nene CCG is committed to taking Equality, Inclusion and Human Rights into account in everything we do whether that's commissioning services, employing people, developing policies, communicating with or engaging local people in our work.

As a public body we will work to ensure we meet our Public Sector Equality Duty to eliminate discrimination and promote and protect people's rights.

Protected characteristics

When we commission services we ensure patients are not unfairly disadvantaged:

The Equality Delivery System (EDS2) is a reporting framework designed by the NHS for the NHS.

The overall objective of the EDS2 is to embed equality into everything we do to eliminate discrimination and ensure there are equal opportunities for everyone.

We support inclusion through:

- Training
- Engaging, including and involving local communities
- Looking at population needs when developing services
- Policies
- Strategies
- Inclusive work culture
- Equal opportunities

Question

How could we ensure we are more inclusive?
